To-day is flag day.

It looks like Hearst in Illinois.

The June National convention will be a Chicago, sure enough.

Read the pound ordinance published in this issue of the Record.

The good railroad and reservoir news will come in good time.

About one-half an inch of rain fell last night. We are thankful for small favors.

Yes, Oregon went considerably Republican but you couldn't expect anything better from Oregon.

The officers elected for the coming year by the Directors of the Roswell Club insure a prosperous year for the Club.

The Democrats of Illinois have a golden opportunity if they will take advantage of the discord now at high tide in the Republican party of that state.

The Republican slogan is to be "Roosevelt and Hitt, and hit them hard." The Democratic slogan may be "Hearst, Hearst, William Hearst, Hearst will let them ride in a hearse" How is this?

OUR IMPORTANCE.

In area possessing one-fourteenth of the entire earth, in population one-twentieth, and increasing more rapidly than that of the rest of the world; in wealth one-fourth, in international commerce one-ninth, in banking power more than one-half, in savings deposits nearly one-third, in government revenue one-tenth, in stock of gold nearly one-fourth, in stock of silver one-sixth, in amount of life insurance two-thirds, in railway mileage over one-third, in coal production one-third, in copper production one-half, in zinc production one-fourth, in iron and steel production more than one-third, in wheat crop one-fifth, in corn crop two-thirds, in cotton one-tenth, in output of newspapers and periodicals over one-third—this is the achievement of the United States after a century and a quarter of existence.—Wall Street Journal.

THE TRUST BUSTER.

That Frick, the head of the steel trust, dictated the appointment of Philander Knox, the successor of Quay, is no secret. For years Knox has been a trust attorney. Considering this fact, it is not hard to realize how the trusts fear Roosevelt, when we also read Roosevelt's comments on this appointment as given by the Associated Press. We are also given to understand the kind of "constructive legislation" that we are to expect if Roosevelt gets a second term, and Philander Knox is in the senate. The dispatch says:

"The President said that during the next session or two of congress it was a fair assumption that there would be considerable constructive legislation on the subject of trusts and combinations of one character or another and in that matter Mr. Knox would be of greater service than perhaps any other man would be. The President is greatly pleased that Mr. Knox will accept the position. The Attorney General until congress convenes next December."

FLAG DAY.

Today is flag day, and in many parts of the Union it is being appropriately observed. One hundred and twenty-seven years ago today congress formally adopted the Stars and Stripes, and three months later on the field of Brandywine it received its first baptism of blood.

The history of the flag is an interesting one. The stars and stripes gradually grew. It was a creature of circumstance, it has well been said as there is no record of its birth. Among the colonies the British was of course the recognized standard. Here and there were minor modifications but the retention of the "union" with its two crosses of St. Andrew and St. George marked all as essentially British. Even after the beginning of the Revolution the union was retained to show that war did not mean separation. At first congress made no effort to fix the national standard. There were two classes of flags then in vogue. The "Pine Tree" flag of New England origin, and the "Rattle Snake" flag more national in its make-up. The latter was white with a rattlesnake cut in thirteen pieces, each marked with the initial of a colony, and the legend, "Join or Die." However the need of a national flag became pressing. The stripes were first used by a Philadelphia light horse troop, and Congress adopted them in 1775 on the recommendation of a committee consisting of Franklin, Lynch and Harrison, but the British "union" was still retained on this flag. This flag was raised over the American headquarters at Cambridge, Mass., January 1, 1776.

But it was on June 14, that Congress ordered the "union" to be displaced by thirteen stars. This marks the beginning of the flag of to-day. On the admission of Vermont and Kentucky, two new stripes were added, but by the act of April 4, 1818, the number of stripes was limited to thirteen, it being provided that the number of stars be increased with the number of states. So on this one hundred and twenty-seventh anniversary of the flag, we have the flag with fifteen stripes and forty-five stars. It is hoped that not more than one more anniversary will pass until two new stars will be added to the field representing the sovereign states of Oklahoma and Arizona.

Triumphs of Modern Surgery.

Wonderful things are done for the human body by surgery. Organs are taken out and scraped and polished and put back, or they may be removed entirely; bones are spliced; pipes take the place of diseased sections of veins; antiseptic dressings are applied to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflammation sets in, which causes them to heal without maturation and in one-third the time required by the old treatment. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is an antiseptic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering which such injuries entail. For sale by all druggists.
